Game Development to me is the realization of interactive media/game from an idea into reality! I am an enthusiastic programmer who can motivate himself to do any work or project either independently or in a team and always strive to do the best work possible.

One of my favourite games is the game 'Portal', because it has a simple mechanic that gets deeper and deeper the more you go into the game making it one of the deepest tutorials I've ever witnessed!

Name Nathan Nieuwenhuizen

Age 22

Summary Hello, I'm Nathan. I am a game developer currently studying 'Games and Interaction' at the HKU in Utrecht.

I'm open to the suggestions and feedback of others and am always looking to use these to improve my skillset. I must warn you I have an unusual sense of humour. My goal is to challenge myself to become a better programmer / designer. To become a better team player. And last but not least:

To make games!
